2024-2025

North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Minnesota

Selecting a school is a major decision. Base your choice on careful research and decide which school is right for you. After all, you will be spending a lot of time and money earning your degree. Some of your best sources of information are close at hand. High school counselors, college admission offices, a friend attending college, parents and relatives are great resources! Visit collegescorecard.ed.gov to compare schools side by side on factors like average annual cost, graduation rate and many more.

Some things to consider when choosing a school:

- Does it have the major I'm interested in?
- Do I want a small or large campus?
- Do I want to be close to home?
- What are the costs and average student debt?
- What is the student-to-professor ratio?
- What is the job placement rate?
- What is the school's graduation rate?
- Is the school accredited?

School expenses can vary depending on the campus you attend, the number of credits you take and your transportation and housing choices. The cost of attending college also is affected by your residency. Students who qualify as a state resident usually pay tuition at a substantially reduced rate compared to nonresidents.

North Dakotans, get smart with your money.

- Your money personality.
- Your money needs.
- Your tips to do better.

BND Student Loan

Freyja Engen
Northwood, North Dakota

Be confident with your student loan decisions

Bank of North Dakota (BND) wants you to Be Confident when you make decisions about paying for education beyond high school. When grants, scholarships, savings and federal Direct Student Loans don't cover the costs of college, BND Student Loans may be a good option for you.

BND offers competitive interest rates with no loan fees. North Dakota residents can use the loan funds at eligible schools in the U.S. or to pay for high school dual credit courses. Out-of-state residents attending a North Dakota college may also apply.

These budgets are estimates for the 2024-2025 school year and are used for awarding financial aid. The information was furnished by each institution's financial aid office, is subject to change and may vary for specialized programs. Check with each financial aid office to determine your specific cost of attendance based on residency or reciprocity, course load and living arrangements since costs vary between students, even at the same institution. Students are encouraged to consider a variety of factors, including cost, before making a decision on which school to attend.

Remember to include personal, transportation and miscellaneous expenses when planning your budget.
